

Teresina, Famous Spanish Dancer, Here December 9

Next Number of Winter Series of Music Society Will Be Very Popular. Seats Are Selling Rapidly

Seats for the Teresina concert are going fast, and this second concert of the Carmel Music Society Winter Series on Saturday evening, December 9, bids fair to be even more crowded than the Elman concert.

In January, 1933, Teresina gave three performances in the great "Teatro Espanol" of Madrid, which were attended by representatives of the Spanish government and all the literary and artistic personalities of Spain. Her reception unquestionably was the greatest ovation ever accorded a Spanish dancer.

Teresina's dance has been compared to falling leaves, to water, to rare and exotic perfume, to raindrops—all vain attempts to describe the beauty of her gesturing hands, the grace of her movements, the expressiveness of a flicker of her eyelids, the exquisite beauty of her person and the fire or abstract loveliness of her dance—for she has both.

Red Cross Over Top; Money Still Coming

"Over the top with the best of luck," to use a war-time cry. And did they do it, those Red Cross workers and those Carmel people who responded?

Three thousand dollars was the goal set and Thanksgiving day was to mark the end of the soliciting period but today is Thanksgiving and last Saturday saw the goal reached.

The attainment of this sum means that those who are unfortunate enough to have to receive help are assured the necessities of life. It allows those who are more fortunate to enjoy what they have in knowing that their neighbors are provided for.

These parties increase in favor each month and are looked forward to with eagerness by card lovers.

Black Widow Spider on Display at Sun Office

If you have never seen a black widow spider, you may have the opportunity by calling at the Carmel Sun office this week. Wednesday morning, J. A. Bunch picked up an old battery box in the back yard and started to turn it up to shake out the debris when his eye caught the spider and her web and eggs. Probably due to the cold, the widow was sluggish. A glass jar was quickly secured and the spider and one egg were placed therein.

Positive identification was made by the Sun editors since they had only Sunday seen a case of them at the aquarium in San Francisco and had studied their appearance. The bright red spots are easily discernible on the under side.

The body is round and black and the legs are long, probably one inch in length.

The specimen will be offered Sunset school next week so that every child may become familiar with its appearance.

"HOMESTEAD" ADVISERS ARE NOW BEING TRIED

Many persons on the Monterey peninsula, especially around Lake side and Seaside districts, are following with interest the trial in Los Angeles of H. Newkirk Wheeler, Harry C. White and Othie A. Adams on charges of using the mail to defraud. By convincing many gullible people that much of the land here was previously held under Spanish land grants which had never been recorded and was therefore subject to homesteading, Wheeler caused many worries on the part of property owners and many happy anticipations on the part of those who planned to homestead.

It is reported that one family have their plans all made as to how they will rearrange the house and what improvements they will make in the surroundings when the time comes to homestead a certain farm.

Wheeler has now a case in the U. S. Circuit court in San Francisco. He claims to have 2,000 people signed up for homestead rights. It is said his "clients" pay him $1 a month for expenses to put their cases through court.

SHAKESPEARE PLAY HERE NEXT SATURDAY

"Much Ado About Nothing," Shakespeare's great comedy, has finished its engagement at the new Kamokila theatre in San Francisco, with great success receiving enthusiastic reviews from the press.

It will be seen here for a limited engagement only at the Carmel Community Playhouse on Saturday, December 2—matinee and evening.

This will be a rare opportunity to see a group of professional actors in one of Shakespeare's most beautiful comedies.

Ronald Telfer's San Francisco Shakespearean Players give a brilliant performance under Mr. Telfer's capable direction, and the staging of scenes together with the costuming, offers a finished production.

◆ CHRISTMAS IS NEXT ◆

Our national holiday—Thanksgiving—is behind us and we are confronted with the Christmas holiday. And, to most of us it means shopping days are here.

There is a thrill in selecting gifts for those we love—toys for the little ones, practical and useful gifts for the older folks and for the Christmas table, fruits, nuts and candies.

This year Carmel merchants have prepared well for the Christmas shopper. Hundreds of gift suggestions are now on display in windows and stores of many local merchants and before the end of this week others will fall in line with displays.

Local merchants deserve a great deal of credit for they have been preparing for the Christmas season many months in advance. This year you will find many new items for gifts and you will find them at home—in Carmel.

When you go on your shopping trip, think of your local merchant first. They are ready to help you to solve your Christmas gift problems with practical suggestions.

Let us all adopt this slogan—Buy gifts in Carmel and give your home merchant a "new deal" for Christmas.

Carmel Art Society Will Meet Sunday

Members of the Carmel Art society will meet Sunday afternoon at two o'clock for the appointment of committees to take care of the many things which will have to be looked after in connection with the remodeling and opening of the new Club house.

The matter of the hanging committee and the appointment of a curator will be among the main questions to be discussed.

MUST CLEAN STREET ACCORDING TO NOTICE

Chris Guth, city officer, is sending notices to Carmel residents this week that any rubbish piled in the streets adjoining their property must be cleaned up within five days.

"I am receiving great cooperation," said Mr. Guth, "I find that although I allow five days for the clean-up, in practically every instance it is removed almost at once."

This is an annual task for Mr. Guth and when he first started he was compelled to serve 70 notices but this year, only 32 were sent.

POINT SUR SCENE OF TRAGEDY THURSDAY

Wilhelm Kiahn and Jens Haavehn, members of the crew of the lighthouse tender, Lupin, were drowned Thursday when a huge wave capsized the boat in which they were carrying supplies to the lighthouse on Point Sur.

Two other men in the boat escaped by clinging to the capsized boat until they were picked up by a boat from the Lupin.

The bodies of the two were washed up on the shore next day. The crew had landed the supplies and were on their return trip when an unusually large wave overturned their small craft.

The staff at the lighthouse, who with their families witnessed the tragedy, stated that supplies had been landed often with the surf much higher but that it was an unexpected huge breaker that caused the accident.

Bodies of both victims were taken to San Francisco Saturday.

Carmel Sun Will Have Photo Engraving Plant

When the Carmel Sun was started a year ago a small photo-engraving plant was a part of the equipment and partly installed but owing to the heavy rush of work during the summer months was never put in practical operation. Now that more time is available the equipment is being put in shape and will be in operation soon. It is not the intention to do any work of a general commercial nature but to use the equipment in making half-tones and line cuts in illustrations for the Sun and for job work.

Walevitch, Russian Tenor, Sings Friday

One of the most interesting of programs is that of Savelli Walevitch, Russian tenor, who gives a recital of Russian and Gypsy folk songs in the Denny-Watrous gallery this Friday evening, December 1, at 8:30 o'clock.

The ancient folk songs of Russia are of significance, in that they represent the life and customs of the people, and are spontaneous expressions of the people themselves. Savelli Walevitch was among the first Russians to introduce to America these old Russian folk songs and Gypsy ballads. It is a work of devotion with him, to aid in the preservation of a primitive art which is fast vanishing from Russia itself, with the incoming of western culture.

Walevitch's program will contain such songs as "The Siberian Horse Driver," "A Labor Chantey of the Volga," "The Bandit," "A Kossack Lullaby," etc., a program of great variety, which, through the intense dramatic power of the artist, and his own Russian nationality, will bring Russia itself for an hour into the gallery on Dolores street on Friday night.

Cincinnati wrote as follows after a Walevitch recital: "The recital of strange Russian and Gypsy songs... by Savelli Walevitch held the audience spellbound long beyond the usual time of concert making... The accompaniment is but a bare chord or two and the songs gripping, curious, odd... they are a running history of the Russian, their strength and weakness, their heroism, their fascinations and scorching, such music, and profoundly interesting such a singer."

OLD FRIENDS MEET FIRST TIME IN 25 YEARS

Mrs. Caroline Edwards of Carmel was more than pleasantly surprised one day this week when an old friend, Miss Salter, called at her home. Mrs. Edwards failed to recognize her old friend, whom she had seen last in Maine about 25 years ago. Needless to say a pleasant afternoon was spent in recounting events during the intervening years.

Miss Salter said she had seen Mrs. Edwards' name mentioned in an item in a Carmel paper and recognized it as her friend. Mrs. Edwards is proprietor of "The Little Shop in the Little House" on Lincoln street.

Rev. and Mrs. Willis G. White have received word that their son, William G. White, stationed in the naval ammunition depot at Bremerton, Wash., has been promoted to the rank of corporal.

Combining the improvement of Carmel with the necessity to provide work for the unemployed, a plan has been launched for the city to take over the Forest Theatre property and to make it into a beautiful park, giving employment to at least thirty men until the first of February.

Since the time is short the council has held several meetings since last Thursday night to arrange for details.

The money for the improvements will come through the federal employment commission which has already allotted $11,000 for the work with the stipulation that the city do its share which is to furnish trucks and superintendents.

Some doubt arose as to whether the work planned could be finished by the end of February, but it is likely that it will be easily done in the specified time. Plans are made for two tennis courts, rebuilding of the Forest Theatre stage, fencing of the grounds with railroad slabs and other beautifications.

A park commissioner will probably be appointed by the city to look after the Ocean avenue park, the beach and the park in the Forest.

The location of the park, its nearness to the main part of town and its beautiful trees and natural beauty make the proposition most desirable, and the new park will be a splendid addition to Carmel, the little city which grows but does not change.

1,048 Men To Be Given Work In This County

Pierce Williams, western field representative for the civil works administration, has announced that Monterey county has been allotted money to employ 1,048 men.

Those listed as unemployed will be taken first, and there have already been listed more than 700 men over the allotment.

About forty men will be employed on the Willow Creek bridge on the Carmel-San Simeon road and forty on a contract recently let to J. L. Connor and J. F. Smith of Monterey for 1.9 miles of Highway between Carmel and the Carmel River.

133,000 will be employed in the state. About 400 of this county's quota will be employed on the peninsula.

Peninsula News

Mrs. Carl Amstein of Pacific Grove received word of the death of her father and her grandmother in an automobile accident at Trinidad, Colo.

K. G. Valentine, Larkin and Franklin streets, Monterey, reported to the police that his dog had been poisoned. He said he believed other pets in that neighborhood had also been poisoned.

A flash of light in one of the windows of the Spazier building led to the searching of the rooms by three Monterey police officers. The burglary evidently made his escape by nearby roofs.

Pacific Grove boasts that she is to have the smoothest, greenest, trimmest lawn on the peninsula around her new museum. Shrubs have also been planted around the building.

Thad S. Lake, found guilty of the murder of A. V. Glougie, was taken to San Quentin Friday to spend the rest of his natural life in prison. Lake shot Glougie when he found him with his 19-year-old wife. Glougie was 69 years of age.

Sam Cogswell and William Callahan, pleaded guilty to robbery in superior court after holding up and kidnapping B. Romangnolo at Lakeside. The charge of kidnapping was dropped. The men were deserters from the army.

Pacific Grove authorities have warned all who persist in throwing missiles at the monarch butterflies that they will be prosecuted on charges of malicious mischief. Hundreds of the beautiful creatures have been killed. The monarchs have been wintering in Pacific Grove for 60 years.

In a brush fire that broke out after dark at Lobos and Prescott streets Pacific Grove nearly one acre of ground was burned over. Frank Moore, state forester, with a crew of men, extinguished the blaze after an hour's work. Children were playing in that vicinity during the afternoon and it is thought that they set the fire. Small damage was done.

A 17-year-old Monterey lad, whose name has been withheld, confessed that he lured 7-year-old Peter Monguerra to an abandoned shack in the Mesa tract Thursday and criminally attacked him. He was taken to the detention home in Salinas and will be tried by Judge Jorgensen in juvenile court. He has served one term in reform school. The little lad was bound and gagged. Freeing himself of the bonds but still gagged, he wandered into the home of a prominent Mesa family. Police uncovered the attacker the following day.

While the hotel code under NRA took effect this week, there will not be much change in the management of hotels in Carmel since they have been operating under the blanket code since its inception.

The hotel code was held up by the collective bargaining clause and by effort to put different operators under different codes, thus the dining room under one, the laundry under another, the cleaners under another, etc. The collective bargaining was accepted but the latter was abolished.

MERCHANTS ATTACK LAW
Five hundred fifty southern California merchants filed suit in the superior court in Sacramento protesting the constitutionality of the sales tax law.

They allege the tax unconstitutional because it has not received the vote of two-thirds of the legislature; because it is discriminatory, and because it was made effective before the required 90 days had been fulfilled.

9:45—Church school. "Offering better work, and growing larger each week."

11:00—Service of worship. Beginning with this service we begin to look forward to Christmas. Mr. Dorsett will speak on the subject "Our Christian Heritage." He will face honestly the questions involved in the relation of the coming of Jesus on the first Christmas to the entire Bible picture. Such questions as: Why was Jesus a Jew? Was Jesus part of a definite plan for man, or was he an accident of history? and other interesting questions will be touched on. The purpose will be to give a practical background on which many other questions of religious history may be answered. Perhaps this hour will bring an answer to some of the questions you have asked yourself about the Christian Faith. Christmas Carols will be sung. Gertrude Bardson will sing a solo.

6:30 to 8:00—J.O.Y. Club will meet for fellowship of singing games, story, and the discussion of 'Personality.'

Women Meet at Pine Inn

The Business and Professional Women's Club of the Peninsula met Friday evening at the Pine Inn and enjoyed a dinner and program.

Dr. E. Louise Jolly of Alameda was the main speaker and took as her topic, "A Century of Progress in Education." "Between 13 and 16 billions are spent each year on criminals in the United States and a great deal less than that for education." Dr. Jolly pointed out.

The program was in charge of Miss Gertrude Rendtorff, Wilma Voss and Agnes Baker.

Marjorie Smith gave two most enjoyable readings. Those present at the meeting were: Dr. Jolly, Dr. Catherine Reddy of San Francisco, Olive Calvert Thompson, president, Gertrude Rendtorff, Wilma Voss, Agnes Baker, Majorie Smith, Mae Poorman, Anabelle Hopping, Martha Brouhird, Laura McStay, Edith Carter, Rena Willey, Vera Vernon, Nellie Bradley, Dorothy Vernon, Angel Heidrick, Edythe Dungan, Christine Raynsford, Harriet Baker, Edith Johns, Ednae McKinlay, Elva Small, Laurine Seguin, Maytie Todd, Nettie Hyde, Jessie Leslie, Helen Whitney, Gertrude Ernst, Sally Lopezco, Alice Mayberry, Frances Whitehead, Agnes Foss, Ann Norwood, Louise Dobbins, Caroline Barney, Marian Kingsland, Mayo Hayes O'Donnell.

"HITLER" SUBJECT OF INTERESTING ADDRESS

Taking for her subject, "Hitler," Mrs. Gertrude Rendtorff told of both the man and his nation at the meeting of the Woman's Club last week. Mrs. Rendtorff illustrated her talk with charts, taking Germany's history from the early days to the present, showing the different strata of social life and covering her subject thoroughly.

The members joined in a discussion and asked many questions bringing out numerous interesting facts.

Turano's Market Is Being Enlarged

Turano's Market on Del Monte avenue between Monterey and Seaside continues to grow and enjoys an increasing number of patrons. The market has been entirely rebuilt and has a sixty foot open front on the street side with all modern facilities for displaying produce and enabling patrons to examine what they are buying. One end of the market is devoted to poultry and has a large, glassed-in enclosure for dressed poultry and also a number of pens for live fowl for those who want to purchase their poultry alive. Mr. Turano says he expects to have a large stock of chickens, ducks and turkeys on hand at all times.

Mr. Turano's wood business is also growing and he has a large crew of men working in the yard and timber all the time which not only makes Mr. Turano smile because his own business is so good but gives employment to several others.

Mr. Turano has built up a fine business in a little more than a year by giving his customers the best in his line and is deserving of good business.

MANY COLONIAL DAMES TO ATTEND GUILD DANCE

If one may take rumor as fact, there will be many a colonial dame and her escort at the dance at Serra Crespi hall Saturday night. "What are you going to wear?" is the burning question of the day.

The committee in charge has everything all planned for a good time, even to the old fashioned music for the dances.

FRANK DALTON BEATS MAISIE AT SALINAS

By The Sport Editor

Last Tuesday night at Salinas, Frank Dalton of Carmel, beat Louie Maisie of Hollister, in a fight that stole the show. It was by far the best fight on the card. It was anybody's fight up till the last of the second round when Dalton caught Maisie with a short right to the jaw, Maisie taking a count of nine. In the last round Frank floored the Hollister boy four times with short rights.

J. E. Mitchell, Salinas fight promoter said, "That Carmel boy is a comer, and he can fight in the Salinas ring anytime he wants to."

Both Frank and Bob Dalton are matched to fight on promoter J. E. Mitchell's next card at Salinas. The date of the fight has not been set as yet, but it will be in about two weeks.

Fighting Bob has not fought since school started and the rest has done him good. Mitchell is looking around for a tough boy for him.

The Dalton boys are both members of the Salinas Fight Club, which is rated as one of the best fight clubs in the west. There are more champs fighting for the club than any other club in the state. Among the champions listed are: McDonald, Pacific Coast Champ; Baumgardner, Golden Gloves champ, Brooks, tri-state champ; Nunes, tri-state champ and Yala, state champ.

Fans who travel to Salinas always see real fights by real fighters.

ANTI WAR MEETING SUNDAY EVE DEC. 3

It has been two years since the last Anti-War meeting was held in Carmel. Since that time the great powers of the world have increased their armies, Japan has conducted a victorious unofficial war in Manchuria, and American battleships have invaded Cuban waters. The American League Against War and Fascism is holding an anti-war mass meeting in the Carmel Community Playhouse on Sunday evening, December 3 at eight o'clock. James Branch, noted San Francisco lecturer and author, will be one of the principle speakers on a program which includes several interesting short talks. Although several Carmel organizations have refused to support this meeting as a body because the cause of peace is a controversial matter over which their membership could not agree—you as an individual can show your support of peace by attending this meeting.

Just Anything

By Jean F. Bunch

"Mother, I don't think it proper for a little child like me to eat Thanksgiving dinner in a restaurant, do you?" said little five-year-old Joy Melrose to her mother. All this by way of not hurting her mother's feelings for choosing to eat dinner with her grandmother, Mrs. Will Chappell instead of with her mother at Romylane's.

This is one of the greatest coincidences I ever heard: While Miss Gada and Miss Glenn were traveling in Ireland they gave a lift to a priest from one city to the next. "And where are you from?" asked the priest. Miss Glenn told him they were from the United States. "O, and would you be knowing Mary Casey O'Leary?" he asked. "Indeed I do," responded Miss Glenn. "She is one of my very best friends in San Francisco." And the two Mary Casey O'Learys were one and the same person.

"That man always reminds me of a rabbit," said a Carmel resident speaking of another Carmel resident. "Every time I see him I want to give him a head of lettuce."

The sea gulls on the newly plowed ground of the Phelps land, give it from a short distance the "appearance of a military cemetery," according to one observer.

I can't help wondering how some of the folks who are so soft hearted as to the fate of kidnapers would feel if some of their own loved ones were treated as was Brooke Hart. If kidnaping is allowed to flourish, our own people in Carmel will not necessarily escape the dastardly criminals. They say sympathy is only putting yourself in some one's place and feeling sorry for yourself. It depends then on whether you put yourself in the place of the Harts or the kidnapers.

Thanksgiving day in Carmel is beautiful. The people here have a plenty to be thankful for, not the least of which is the gorgeous weather the greater part of the year.

And don't forget that Carmel Sun is the paper that reaches the people of Carmel and its territories.

CRIME

Crime is not usually thought of as a "white-collar" business, but so it has become according to Buron Fitts, district attorney of Los Angeles, quoted in The Chico Enterprise. Startling indeed were his revelations of the degree to which crime is organized and of the tone and class of the individuals who compose the organizations. Here are a few of his outstanding statements delivered at the Commonwealth Club.

"When I was a young deputy, I remember that crime was an isolated thing. The criminal was a grandstander—dirty, illiterate, and unkempt. Today's gangster is of a different type. He dresses well, he has all the appearance of righteousness. And he is not isolated. We are dealing with a group mob. Therein lies the danger.

"By reason of the gang organization, crime is a greater menace than ever before. Organized crime in the big eastern centers gets its income today not from the actual commission of murder or robbery or burglary or kindred crimes but from preying upon and extorting money from the legitimate business men or women.

"Olney Madden of New York considered the greatest gang organizer collects a penny and a quarter for every bundle of laundry delivered in New York City, and a penny for every bottle of milk. In Chicago the chamber of commerce states that over 500 types of business pay annually more than $100,000,000 blackmail for the privilege of conducting legitimate business.

"From the standpoint of income and connected safety, the outstanding crime of recent years is that of kidnaping. Kidnaping a child for ransom is the work of the old type criminal. The new criminal, the gang kidnaper, takes the man or woman of mature mind who realizes the consequences of talking. The result is that a witness will not identify or convict his kidnaper. He has been terrorized. And kidnaping is the east has become a tremendously profitable and almost safe business for the criminal to follow.

"We need laws with teeth in them. If a murderer is put in San Quentin or Folsom we need to keep him there. We need laws that will take the profit out of crime. Why shouldn't the thief be compelled to pay his victim every penny cost by loss of property, or the taxpayers of California for the expense to which he has put them?"—Political Straws by Esto Broughton.

PAROLE

Secret parole meetings of the State Parole Board are hit by The Culver City Star-News: "Evidence is abundant that the prison board, known generally as the parole board by reason of its special activities, needs reconstruction and restraint. To a dishonest man a position on the board might be lucrative. To the wily politician it would impart a sinister influence. The duties of membership should be trusted only to citizens of the highest character.

"There seems to be some misconception as to the purpose of the board. It was not designed to function solely in the interest of such convicts as might have a pull. Intended to benefit prisoners by giving them a chance to prove their worthiness for release, it also has in view the benefit of society and the protection of society against malefactors.

"Perhaps the first instance that became notorious was that of 'Big Hutch' a professional swindler with a long police record

He had been enjoying liberty in a distant state for many weeks before news leaked out. There was great indignation over that episode. It seems not, however to have impressed the board."—Political Straws.

This Year Make It a

Firestone Christmas

Give yourself and your family a real Christmas gift. For greater safety and blowout protection there is no better gift than Firestone tires. Tires worn smooth are dangerous, especially in wet weather. Remember—your brakes stop the wheels, but your tires stop the car—and that's when you need Firestone protection.
